

First Annual Jackson County Provider Fair
Tuesday, March 27, 2012, 5 p.m. to 7p.m.
James Rhodes Community Center, 11 Stewart Street, Coalton, Ohio, 45621

Southern Ohio Council of Governments (SOCOG) is providing an opportunity for people, businesses and organizations to showcase the services they provide to adults and children with developmental disabilities who reside in Jackson County. This will be a great opportunity for individuals with developmental disabilities and their families to become aware of the choices they have as consumers of services in Jackson County.

The kinds of choices we would like displayed at this fair may include daily living services, respite care, residential options, employment choices, recreation and social options, and educational options. We encourage exhibitors to include an interactive activity or game and giveaways. Provider participants are sought in both not for profit and for profit services.

We will invite individuals with developmental disabilities and their families, the general public, and social service organizations in Jackson and surrounding counties.

Please complete the Registration Form and return it by February 29 to reserve your free space at this exciting event. (Register early to ensure a slot.) An on-going list of exhibitors will be provided on our website at www.socog.org.

We request all exhibitors provide a door prize to be given away to individuals with disabilities and their families (request items of $20 value or gift card). Light refreshments will be available for all who participate in our Fair.

We look forward to your participation and hope to hold this event annually for individuals with disabilities and their families of Jackson County. Please feel free to duplicate the event flyer and distribute as you wish.

Please call Lori Lippert, 740-775-5030, ext. 103, if you have questions.
